Chapter 1 General Provisions

Section 1 – General Provisions

Art. 1 Everything in these regulations cannot be held against the statutes or the law. If any conflict between the regulations and the statutes or the law may occur, the statutes and the law will take precedence. For clarity's sake, this document contains repetitions of what is laid down in the statutes. Clauses that repeat what is laid down in the statutes are marked by an asterisk (*).

Art. 2

- 1 A member is only allowed to cancel their membership at the end of an association year, provided that it is written and with consideration of a cancellation period of at least one month.*
- 2 The association-year runs from July 1st until June 30th of the next year.
- 3 The member is still indebted to the contribution of the ongoing year. Cancellation after the cancellation period causes that the membership - including the financial obligations of this membership - ends on the end of the upcoming association year, unless the board, because of special circumstances, decides differently.*
- 4 A member is not able to withdraw themselves from a decision which raises the contribution for the members, except for what is laid down in article 4, clause 2, last paragraph of the statutes.*
- 5 Apart from what is laid down in the statutes on relinquishing membership, relinquishing membership may also be done via e-mail. This e-mail must be addressed to the secretary of Link.
- 6 A member has to cancel their membership if they are unsure whether they will be studying next academic year.

Art. 3 Payment may occur through the following means: IDEAL, automatic payment, and in exceptional circumstances, any other agreed-upon payment method that is readily available for the association.

Art. 4 The GMA determines the minimum amount that – either per association-year or at once – is owed by a donator to the association. The secretary keeps a register of the names and addresses of the donators.*

Art. 5

- 1 As part of the process of Board transition, a Candidate Board shall be selected.
- 2 The Candidate Board gets selected by the current Board, in collaboration with the Advisory Board, through the process of applications and interviews.
- 3 The Candidate Board will be voted upon at a GMA to confirm their status as the Candidate Board; they shall be voted upon as a whole, which does not confirm their status as the next Board yet, but allows the current Board to start the transfer process.

Art. 6

- 1 Link has an Advisory Board. The AB gives advice to the board both when asked and when not asked. The AB gives advice on the 'board plan' before it is presented during the Annual Assembly ('jaarvergadering' mentioned in the statutes). If the AB does not give their advice in a timely, in accordance with what is laid down in paragraph 7 of this article, fashion to the board, the board may present the board plan without prior advice from the AB.
- 2 The AB determines the way the board scholarships are split in cooperation with the board if the board cannot figure it out amongst themselves.

- 3 The AB for an upcoming academic year will be voted in during the last GMA of the preceding academic year.
- 4 The AB consists of no more and no less than three members. The GMA determines the members of the AB. A member of the AB may not simultaneously be a member of the board. A member may only be chosen again for the AB for no more than two consecutive years. The members of the AB do not have to be members of the association.
- 5 From the members of the AB, a president for the AB will be chosen. This president is responsible for the planning of the meetings within the AB and the meetings with the board of Link.
- 6 The AB meets as often as the president or two members of the AB deem it necessary. The AB meets at least twice a year with the board.
- 7 The board must provide the AB with any documents they want checked at least one business week before the deadline they have set.

Art. 7 The main language of the association is English. If any documents are available in both English and Dutch, then the language of the original versions takes priority, unless the document expressly states otherwise. If it is unclear which language is the original language of the document, then the English version takes priority.

Art. 8

- 1 A member may be suspended by the board for a period of no more than three months if the member repeatedly fails to comply to their membership's duties or if they behave in a way that severely damage the interests of the association. During this period, the member may not exercise their membership rights.*
- 2 Within one month after the member has been notified of the decision to suspend, that member may appeal to the GMA and may defend themselves there. During this period of appeal and during the appeal itself, the member remains suspended.*

Art. 9

- 1 When the board is able to use the sanction of article 8, the board may also use one of the following sanctions alongside or instead of the suspension. This list is non-limitative.
 - a Giving an (un)official warning.
 - b Having a conversation with the member.
 - c Kicking or banning the member from chats (see chapter 4).

Art. 10

The board is allowed to cancel one's membership (in accordance with article 4, clause 3 of the statutes) when:

- a A member does not comply with the statutory requirements of the membership.*
- b A member - despite diligent exhortation - does not comply with their obligations towards the association.*
- c It is not reasonable to demand the association to persist the membership of this individual.*

Art. 11

The board is allowed to discharge one's membership (in accordance with article 4 clause 4 of the statutes) when:

- a A member acts or has acted in conflict with the statutes, regulations or the decisions of the association.*
 - b A member has treated or harmed the association in an unreasonable manner.*
- Art. 12 Before the association joins any bond (in the Dutch sense of the word, an umbrella association for associations), it has to check whether it fulfils the membership requirements of that bond. Once accepted into the bond, the association must comply with the rules of the related bond.
- Art. 13 Only students who study in Tilburg may partake in student competitions in the name of the association, unless the specific competition makes an exception to that rule. This has to do with the requirements for participation of certain student competitions such as the Groot Nederlands Studenten Kampioenschap or the Nederlands Studenten Kampioenschap.
- Art.14
- 1 An honorary member is an individual who has been recognized for contributing significantly to Link. Their contribution(s) have (had) a lasting impact on Link and has helped the association improve, grow or become more sustainable.
 - 2 Any member of Link may propose honorary members to be voted in on the GMA. This proposal must be well substantiated. If all members of the board agree that the proposal is not substantiated well enough, they may deny it before it appears on the GMA.
 - 3 An honorary member has the same rights and obligations as a regular member, they will not have to pay contribution however.*
 - 4 At least 15% of the total number of members need to vote. This percentage is determined by only those who vote yes or no. Abstaining does not count. Of those votes, at least 75% must be in favour of the honorary member.
 - 5 It is not mandatory to consult the AB about honorary members.
- Art. 15 The board may decide that ex-members of Link are also eligible for the title of honorary member as mentioned in article 14.
- Art. 16 In addition to article 13, the board may allow a non-member, in future references called an “external”, to participate in a competition in the name of TSEA link if the conditions laid down in this article are met.
- 1 In this article and the rest of the Internal Regulations an “external” shall be understood as:
 - a An individual that is not a member of TSEA Link.
 - b An individual that does not study at an institution within the province of Noord-Brabant.
 - c An individual that is of at least 18 years old that also fits the requirement of the competitions.
 - 2 In this article a “split” shall be understood as the duration of a single competition period (e.g. 4 months for DCL)
 - 3 The conditions that an external has to comply with are the following:

- a The external must adhere to paying a fee of €5,- per split they compete in (actively or passively). The Board may choose to waive this fee.
 - b The team in which the external will compete, must consist of a majority of Link members after the addition of the external.
 - c The external may only be added after the initial phase of (re)forming teams to complete or compliment a team, even if they participated with a team in a previous split.
 - d The external only fills the spot in the team for one split, they may however be allowed to play multiple splits if a team requires the external after (re)forming the team.
 - e The team must unanimously agree to the addition of the external to the team.
 - f The external follows the general code of conduct of TSEA Link.
- 4 If the conditions are met, the external will receive limited access to the TSEA Link Discord and other privileges TSEA Link members enjoy to fulfil their role as a team member.
- 5 The e-sports officer may decide to remove the external from their team if they do not deem them fit for the team, if the external does not adhere to the Code of Conduct, or any other reasonable reason agreed upon by other board members.

Chapter 2 Board

Section 1 – General Provisions

- Art. 1 An agenda will be provided before a GMA. This will be made public at least 14 days before the GMA.*
- Art. 2 The agenda may be changed. Changes that require preparation from the members may not be made in an unreasonably short time before the GMA.
- Art. 3 Members may provide subjects for a GMA until 5 days before a GMA, accompanied by motivations. These will be discussed during the nearest GMA. The board may, if they deem it necessary, delay the subject until the following GMA. The board may ignore subjects that are clearly not fit for a GMA.
- Art. 4 Previously discussed subjects, provided the GMA deems them sufficiently settled, do not need to be discussed again unless there are relevant new circumstances that warrant doing so.
- Art. 5 Any attachments to the agenda may be made public at a later date. These attachments must be made public at a reasonable date.
- Art. 6 The president may appoint a timekeeper for the GMA. Their role is to make sure the agenda is followed and that all subjects are discussed. This person determines when a discussion is over and when voting will begin, or whether the current subject will be ended.
- Art. 7 If possible, there will be time for questions, remarks and suggestions at every GMA.
- Art. 8
1. Minutes will be made of what is discussed during every GMA by the secretary or another person appointed by the president, that will be confirmed by the president and the note-taker by signing these minutes.*
 2. The signing happens before the GMA where the board for the next association year will be voted in.

- 3 The empowering with voting rights must be accompanied by instructions on what the receiver of the voting rights must vote. These may hold additional instructions or conditions. The passing of voting rights only counts for the specified agenda-subjects for which the voting rights have been passed. The voting rights may only be passed until 24 hours before the GMA and must be made known to the secretary within that timeframe. This must be done by e-mail. The empowerment must be done using the empowerment form on the website that has been made for this.

Art. 3

Every committee shall be supported by at least one Board Buddy. The Board Buddy shall be a member of the Board who supervises the committee. The Board Buddy expresses the Board's will to the assigned committee and shall be the main point of contact between the committee and the Board

Art. 4

- 1 Minutes will be taken during the committee's meetings. These must be in English.
- 2 The minutes of the committee's meetings will be made known to the board in as complete a form as possible within 5 business days. The board may prescribe a template that the minutes must follow.

Art. 5

Art. 9

The treasurer of any association-year will automatically become a member of the audit committee ('kascommissie') of the following year, unless there are any objections to this.

Chapter 6 Events

Section 1 – General Provisions

- Art. 1 “Association-organised events” are events that have been organised by the board or her committees.
- Art. 2 Members may organise events in the context of the association on their own. The association and the board are not responsible for the organisation and execution of such member’s initiatives.
- Art. 3 Committees are responsible for the organisation of relevant AOE’s.
- Art. 4 The board holds the final responsibility for the adequate organisation of AOE’s.
- Art. 5 AOE’s must fit within the goals of Link.
- Art. 6 Members are liable towards to the association for any damages they may cause during AOE’s.
- Art. 7 All AOE’s are subject to these regulations. The mentioned member’s initiatives mentioned in article 2 of this chapter are not bound by the rules of these regulations unless it is determined otherwise.
- Art. 8
1. If a committee grants financial support to a members’ initiative, the regulations on Events must apply to the initiative. The committee will inform the relevant members who organise the initiative of this obligation.
 2. If a committee grants any support other than financial support to a members’ initiative, they may ask that the regulations on Events will apply to that initiative. The board is also qualified to do this.
- Art. 9 AOE’s are open for all members and active alumni of TSEA Link. Members may only be denied access on impersonal grounds (e.g. physical lack of room for more members, a maximum number of players, registration past a deadline, etc.). The president and secretary may make exceptions to this rule.
- Art. 10 Members are to comply to the Code of Conduct during AOE’s.
- Art. 11 No drugs may be used at events to which these regulations apply. Members under the age of 18 may not consume alcohol at these events. Members who are under the influence of drugs and under-aged members who are under the influence of alcohol during the event will be denied access or removed from the event.
- Art. 12 The board is not responsible for events to which these regulations does not apply.
- Art. 13 The board may temporarily refuse a member access to events in case of violating the Internal Regulations.

Art. 14 The board determines which events are published and promoted using the general means of communication.

Section 2 – Financial provisions

Art. 15 The e-sports officer determines for which tournaments, competitions and events the association will pay (part of) the entry fee.

Art. 16 If a member wins money at an event for which the association has paid (part of) the entry fee, the association has the right to a maximum of twice the entry fee in question, unless something else has been agreed to in writing. The rest of the winning will go to the member. The e-sports officer and other board members may enter into such an agreement as mentioned in the first sentence.

Justifications

These Internal Regulations are made for the purpose of the professionalisation and the sustainability of the organisation as well as internal transparency, clarity and the equality of the rights of members and clarifying the rights and duties of the board and the committees.

The aim of these Internal Regulations is mainly to put to letter the existing rights, duties and procedures within the association, but also to create or determine new or unused rights, duties and procedures. Some of these rights, duties or procedures are changed in favour of the professionalism and sustainability of the association.

Creating and anchoring these rules may feel bureaucratic or formal compared to the stance of this association in the past, but they are of huge importance whenever there is confusion or conflict within the association. If Link is to become a sustainable association, it will ideally exist in 50 years and while we would wish there to never be any conflict within the association, someday there will be conflict and through these Internal Regulations we hope to resolve this conflict as quickly and cleanly as possible. Enacting these Internal Regulation is of the utmost importance and must be done as quickly as reasonably possible. This document should have already existed.

When these Internal Regulations are enacted, the idea is that little will change for the members in terms of their rights. Any procedures that have been used in the past throughout the association may be changed. Enacting the Internal Regulations facilitates the operationalisation of standard procedures within Link in favour of efficiency and clarity.

On the subject of events organised by the board/committees and events organised by members: There are a few reasons why a distinction must be made between events that are organised by the board/committees and events that are organised by members. Firstly, Link cannot become a sustainable organisation if she keeps relying on members' initiatives for events. If members who actively organise events decide to leave Link or no longer want to organise those events, we would lose a layer of events. Link has to be able to lay a sufficient foundation of events so that there will not be a shortage of activities.

Apart from that, it must be clear whether something is a Link-event or not in terms of participation, for example: a group of friends consisting of Link-members may want to go out to dinner together. If they want other members to be able to freely join that event, that should be communicated clearly. If that does not happen, confusion and conflict may arise. A member may invite themselves thinking the event was open for the entire association, while the group had no intention of doing so. On the other hand, the group may be entirely open to others joining, but might not have properly made that clear. That could cause members who wanted to join initially to miss the event, because they did not know everyone was free to join. This could be harmful to the internal relations between members and the board wishes to create a certain support or structure for this in the Internal Regulations.

Furthermore, the events that are organised by the board or the committee will be subject to the Internal Regulations and thusly follow a certain set of rules. One of those rules is that nobody can be refused entrance to events unless there are objective grounds for such a refusal or unless that person has violated the Internal Regulations and is therefore refused entry.

Additionally, there is a strict no-alcohol <18 policy at association-organised events and there is a no-drugs policy. Also, the responsibility for the organisation of association-organised events should rest on the board and the committees.

The organisers of members' initiatives may request support from the committees. If that support is granted, the organisers can count on help from the association. That could be financial support but could also be the provision of objects and supplies, help in lifting furniture or any other help the organisers may request. That means that money, time and/or effort from the association is put into that event and that means the event also bears some representation from Link; after all, no support would have been granted if the association did not see any value in the event. This will entail that the committee will ask that the Internal Regulations and the Code of Conduct will apply to that event. The association needs a certain guarantee for the correct representation of Link and a certain protection of the reputation of Link.

This brings us to the next point: an association-organised event represents Link. This means that any errors during that event come at the cost of the image of Link. If Link organises an event that unexpectedly gets completely out of hand, that may result in severe damage to the association's reputation. If this is to ever happen to an event that is not organised by the association but is instead organised by members of the organisation, Link needs to have certain grounds to distance themselves from the event to potentially diminish any damage to our reputation.

Let it be known that Link absolutely does not want to limit the organisation of events by members within Link. We are hugely enthusiastic that members enjoy organising events with other members, and we can only endorse it. It is because of the aforementioned reasons that it is of dire importance that the association can create a clear distinction between the different organisers of events for Link's continued existence.

On the subject of drug use:

While the use of marijuana may be tolerated by the government, a relaxed attitude towards drug use will have consequences for the reputation of an association. Seeing how drug use has nothing to do with esports, roleplaying or gaming in general, we will enforce a strict zero-tolerance policy in the context of drug use at association-organised and events organised by members to which the event regulations apply. This is in the interest of the protection of the reputation of the association. Let it be clear that this only goes for events to which the event-regulations apply; members who, for example, organise a house party on their own for Link members may of course determine for their own whether they allow drugs at their home.

Furthermore, we hope to prevent members entering an environment where they are exposed to drugs against their will or where they feel pressured to use drugs. It is therefore that we request in the Code of Conduct that the usage and procurement of drugs is not discussed in the freely joinable association-chats.¹

The requirements of joining the Link Talk Group are not mentioned, which is a conscious choice. We do this so that it is possible to, should it ever happen, 'disaster tourists' can be barred from the chats. Whoever may be interested in joining the Talk Group(s) can contact one of the Confidential Advisors. In a conversation with the Confidential Advisors it will be examined whether joining the Talk Group is of benefit to the member and if it won't hurt the goal of the Talk Group.

¹ This does not mean that it is not allowed to talk about drugs in general. We just do not want members in association-chats to freely discuss their own drug use, offer drugs or ask tips on the usage of drugs or openly invite other members to use drugs.
